Notes: Commentaries are in bullets

My daughter My message yesterday was harsh. Many reading it will say “this is not the way the Lord speaks”. But how do they know? It is because of the suffering that is being endured by My beloved children at the hands of others that I must speak out. I speak out because of My Divine Mercy in order to help save you My children so that we can be united as one Holy Family in the New Paradise. I do not want to lose one single soul to The Deceiver. It is important that My voice is heard.

Commentary

Jesus says in this message: “My message yesterday was harsh” So what is this message that Jesus Himself seems to lament that it is harsh. Here is the rehash of the preceding message is actually the Year of the Purification given on January 11, 2011 @ 12:30 AM which has 6 sub-topics:

1. Purification comes before My Second Coming
 2. Time has arrived for the seals to be broken
 3. Why do you punish Me with your lack of love?
 4. Priests ignoring teachings
 5. Prophecies given to you out of Mercy
 6. The reality of Hell
- So the explanation of the harshness of the preceding message comes a day after, and Jesus explains that: “It is because of the suffering that is being endured by My beloved children at the hands of others that I must speak out”
 - It is because of the suffering people, the innocent, the weak; it’s all of us whom Jesus loves so much

Non-Believers find it so difficult

I understand that for many of My children, especially those non-believers, they find it very difficult to believe in the next life. They are so conditioned by worldly matters that, in their struggle to survive, they have neglected their spirituality to such an extent they don’t believe that there is another life at all. They now need to consider. They believe that all ends after death and that the only world they need to worry about is the one they live in right now. How I despair for these misguided souls. If they could only experience a glimpse of what Paradise provides they would spend their days in prayer and adoration to Me and My Eternal Father in praise and thanks. This new world that I have promised them is a reality. Praise to the believers who have never forgotten this fact and who still pray to Me every day. How I love My followers. But how I suffer for them too. These devout followers do everything they can to convince others of My existence. Then they are laughed at and scorned on My behalf. How this breaks My heart.

Commentary

- This is really lamentable. I read this news item about Germany's highest court decided that the Bavarian law requiring a crucifix to be hung in each of the state's 40,000 classrooms was unconstitutional
- The court decision was on a case brought 10 years ago by Ernst Seler, a Bavarian artist and composer who did not want to send his three children to schools where the "image of a bleeding, half-naked male corpse" was displayed. Apparently the parent is an atheist
- So the Non-Believers find it so difficult to believe that we have a Savior who died for us on the cross (though maybe no fault of their own, as the parents themselves are also raised in agnostic, atheistic family backgrounds)
- This is secularism under the guise of tolerance because of the right to freedom of religion yet, this is protected and sanctioned by law
- A case also in Italy, the boy was so horrified to see the crucified Jesus in the crucifix hanging in the classroom. The parents who are atheists want the crucifix removed but they lost the case
- The faithful Catholics fought against it. But sometimes, if we remain silent, we will just learn later that our freedom to express our faith is slowly eroded. In this case, the people protected and defended their Christian faith (CoP 144)

How the departed pine for all those left with no faith

How your loved ones pine for you all on the other side non-believers! For those of you whose loved ones are at peace in My Father's Kingdom they constantly pray to intercede on your behalf. What you do not realise is this. If you take time to speak with Me privately – in your own words – and ask Me for guidance, even if your faith is lukewarm, then I will respond. And you will know that I have responded. Turn to Me now children. In your own words and ask Me to restore your faith. Consider My teachings through these messages and through the Bible and remind yourselves what way you must live your lives. I will, through My mercy, reveal to you your grievances against My teachings and every sin and offense you have committed throughout your life very soon.

Commentary

- Here, Jesus describes our loved ones on the other side, (from nowhere else but in purgatory) that means our departed loved ones in the family; and He is pointing of the loved ones of the non-believers who have died already, that they pine, or they are very sad of the state of unbelief of those who are still alive
- The fact is that when we die, the soul remains, and the soul is already pure spirit. So the soul understands the mind of God and so they pine that their loved ones who are still alive in the world do not believe or no longer believe in God

- Our bodies will be like angels in the next life; all will be in the prime of youth in paradise; but while in the state of purgation or purification, the souls only long to see God the soonest (hence, the prayer we offer to hasten their transfer to heaven). So they know that the life of unbelief could send us to a life of perdition. We remember here the story about the rich man who died begging the Lord to send messengers to tell his brothers to renew their lives

Not Judgement day but a taste of what it will be like

This is an act of Mercy on My part. You will see your sins and understand immediately how they appear to Me. Instantly you will understand clearly how offensive they are and wrong. This is your chance children to repent. This is not Judgement day but a taste of what it will be like. Out of mercy you are being given the greatest gift of all before Judgement Day – the chance to repent and change your life before the Final Day – the time when I arrive back on this earth. I come as you know, not as a Saviour then, but as a just judge. That time is now close My children. Do not fear. I love you all. You are in My heart. Allow Me enter yours now and let Me guide you to My Father's Kingdom. Never fear death. Death will simply be a doorway into a new beautiful life of blissful eternity full of love, peace and happiness.

Life on earth only a passage in time

Your life on earth is simply a passage in time. It can be full of love, joy, pain, rejection, fear, anger, despair, frustration and sadness. But it is only when you turn to Me that your pain will ease. Blessed are those who suffer and especially in My name for you will be glorified in my Father's Kingdom. Blessed too are those who turn back to Me for there will be great rejoicing in Heaven. You will be welcomed into My New Paradise. Pray for your souls and those of your families now. The Warning will take place soon. Then you will know the truth. You will then have the chance to redeem yourself in my eyes. I love you all. I rejoice because I know that so many more of My children will now turn back to Me and God, the Eternal Father as the time for the end times draws very close now. Be prepared.

Commentary

- So the last 2 Sub-topics is the most salient part of this message
- As mentioned in the preceding sub-topics, when we are separated from the temporal bodies, as if now, we are already in a state of our own souls, and our past lives will parade before us, similar to watching ourselves in a giant screen (by the way, these are the things I have read in NDE's or near-death experiences) that we ourselves know already what are the actions we did, good or bad that please or offend God and we know what is the judgment for our very own soul
- So we look at ourselves, not the way, we look at ourselves right now, that we do bad things, but we can justify, and we can blame others for that

- No, we look at ourselves according to how God looks at us; that is in the eyes of a full justice or in a state of full righteousness that we do not complain what is the verdict. We think it is the last judgment but not yet, it is still just the Warning
- Since the state of life in the afterlife is timeless, therefore, the laws of nature will also be suspended for a moment while we look at ourselves in the way God looks at us, then we go back to the normal state
- And the crucial decision:
 1. REPENT AND GO BACK TO THE LORD
 2. CONTINUE DOING GOOD, or
 3. REJECT THE MERCY OF GOD THROUGH THE WARNING
- Of course as Jesus said: "I rejoice because I know that so many more of My children will now turn back to Me." Indeed, many will be converted because of the Warning "Those who live after this event will be more cautious about the contents of this sacred book. They will find it difficult to ignore even if their faith is weak" (CoP 43)
- The Warning gives us a TREMENDOUS GRACE to remain in God's bosom
- But we must be always be on guard because during the days of the post-Warning, Satan will still be around unleashing the last of his power, the APEX OF DISGRACE to deceive even those who are already converted. So we pray for the weak souls during this time to protect them from reverting back to their old comfort in sin (CoP 88)

Your loving Saviour Jesus Christ
